MOONLIT TIGER

GENRE Young Adult, Romantic Comedy, Fantasy

LOGLINE

A cursed chaebol heir who turns into a tiger under the full moon must find true love with the last white-tiger heir — their only chance to break the curse — while enemies plot to wipe out their bloodline.

SYNOPSIS

Adopted at birth, Sarah, a Korean with striking blue eyes and little sense of her roots, travels to Korea and becomes the in-house tutor to Kai, the bumbling heir to Tigerleaf, one of the country's most powerful K-beauty empires. Her job is to raise Kai's hopeless SAT scores. What she expects to be a simple summer is anything but. Moon Beauty is the Tigerleaf's largest buyer, and its heir, Do-jin, is the golden boy; eye-catching, hyper-competent, business-savvy, and the guy who gets deals done one way or another. On the surface he seems untouchable, but his parents are cruel, his happiness is fragile, and he believes winning Sarah's love is the key to securing his place in his family's future. Sarah doesn't know she is the last descendant of the legendary White Tiger, and an ancient myth holds that when a White Tiger finds true love, the mystical flower will flourish. Combined with CICA, it'd open a new world of K-beauty, the breakthrough that will determine who claims the legacy. Both Kai and Do-jin compete for her heart,

M: MIXED TWINS

GENRE Horror, Sci-Fi, Medical Thriller

LOGLINE

A brilliant surgeon with a hidden, vile alter ego fights to keep her humanity intact—until a relentless detective, tied to her past and her creation, falls in love with the very monster he’s sworn to stop.

SYNOPSIS

Jenny is a brilliant surgeon—admired, respected, seemingly flawless. But hidden beneath her calm exterior is “M”: a violent alter ego who surfaces whenever Jenny loses control. To keep M contained, she depends on a strict regimen of pills. If she falters, M awakens—stalking predators and leaving a trail of brutal murders across the city. Her world shifts when old acquaintances mistake her for “Mari,” a woman who vanished a decade ago. Among them is Detective Jiseok, who is shaken to discover Jenny’s uncanny resemblance to the woman he once loved—and lost. The façade cracks when an abused child is rushed into Jenny’s ER. Seeing the child’s injuries triggers M, and soon the suspected abuser—the boy’s father—plunges from the hospital rooftop. Jiseok takes the case, only to find the evidence keeps pointing back to Jenny, the woman who feels both like a stranger and a ghost from his past.

M: MIXED TWINS

SYNOPSIS

As a dangerous romance grows between them, Jiseok is forced to confront the mounting killings. The deeper he digs, the more horrifying the truth becomes: Jenny isn't a miracle of nature, but the product of a genetic experiment orchestrated by Jiseok's own father—a ruthless scientist obsessed with human perfection. Jenny's brilliance, her torment, even the existence of M, are all part of his design. Now Jiseok must make an impossible choice: protect the woman he loves, or stop the monster she cannot control.
